A TALL STORY ABOUT HATS

Nineteen-thirty-four mad, nine-thirty-five madder, nineteen-thirty-six maddest—that's the hat history for you during the last three years.

For the last six seasons you've had to put any little bit of nonsense on your head and call it a hat, and this year—well, this year it's about time the designers called it a day. Because this year they're madder than ever!

Just to forewarn you about what you'll see yourself wearing next winter, here's some news about the least imaginative flights of fancy.

Flight's the word, too. There's a feather in every cap, and no mistake. One from Rose Valois (bottom right); it must have begun life as a mere Robin Hood hat, but later its crown got pinched into four folds reaching up to a peak. Its brim is chipped about like the upturned brim on one side are two giant pheasant's feathers that stretch back and away for miles and miles—well, honestly they're not an inch less than a foot and a half long, and you'd have to be terribly careful in a bus.

Lots of Rose Valois's hats were more feather than hat, and Maria Guy had quills eighteen inches long with gilded and sequined tips. Even the sober Homburgs have gone gay, decorated with nothing less than a whole bird.

Erik uses mostly ostrich plumes; and if feathers don't please you, you can simply tie round some chiffon in violent colours and leave the ends dangling, or use very wide gros grain ribbon tied in an enormous bow in front.

So much for trimmings—now for shapes.

If I must sum up "trends" out of the staggering variety of new hats, I should say there are four: Homburgs, toques, peaked caps and Directoire—all with knobs on, or, in other words, with variations.

To get the right idea about your new Homburg, put your last year's sports hat on a chair, sit on it, then attach it to a huge feather and perch it precariously on top of your hair.

The new Homburgs all look squashed, and they can be any style from a Robin Hood to a postillion, or a cross between both like this one from Maria Guy (top right). It has a dented crown rising up and wa-a-y back, with a medium brim turned up flat at the back and snapped sharply down over one eyebrow.

Mme. Le Monnier showed nothing but toques. Nothing very high, nothing exaggerated, all their allure in the line and movement of skilful pleats, drapes and folds. A toque of lamb, its crown ending in two peaks tweaked in opposite directions (like the twin oil and vinegar bottles on a cruet stand), had a couple of soldierly tassels bobbing about in front. And the Le Monnier toque sketched (bottom left) was made in the latest antelope skin, soft and pliable as felt, folded twice round the front, flat to the head at the back, with (her only concession to the new height) a bit of a frill sticking straight up.

Under toques come all the little round pillbox hats; higher than

PRESERVING BEAUTY OF THE SKIN IN SUMMER

Cleansing Solvents Or Aromatic Herbal Milk Treatments

Cleaning the skin in summer is a serious problem for the beauty parlours. Washing with soap and water, unless the water is softened and the soap free from alkali, can do more harm than good in drying up the skin and leaving it shiny. Cleansing with oils does not make for coolness on hot days, and often leaves the face sticky.

Yet to keep the face perfectly clean is one of the secrets of summer beauty, since skin tissues choked by cream or powder develop pimples and blackheads and make the face look sallow. One square inch of skin seen under a microscope shows large quantities of dust, bacilli and skin particles on a film of moisture that spreads over whole skin of the face.

QUICK AND PRACTICAL

A solvent that can break down this film, strip the skin clean and have both a bactericidal and softening effect is now being used. After this has been rubbed in gently with the finger tips and wiped off with a face tissue it is not necessary in summer to apply a powder foundation, but the face can be powdered lightly straight away.

This cleansing solvent can be used as often as desired and will take off all makeup in a few moments. This makes it specially practical for quick face-cleansing treatments after an afternoon of social engagements, and before going out to dinner, theatre or dance. A woman doctor has worked out a prescription to take the place of water altogether in cleansing the face after tennis or any violent exercise in the sunshine. This is a sweet herbal milk, made from distilled water impregnated with garden herbs and aromatic plants. The face should be washed gently with a sponge that has been soaked in the milk, and then allowed to dry in a slight draught.

FOR THE GARDENER

Treatments for both face and hands in summer include two preparations of meal, almond and oatmeal, one for the more active or greasy type of skin and the other for the fine skin that is apt always in summer to become dry and wrinkled. For women who do a great deal of gardening without gloves a hand specialist has invented a dirt remover. It is like a light oil and is simply sprinkled over the hands, which are then washed in water. The dirt pours off in an amazing manner, leaving the hands clean and soft and not unpleasantly tightened up.

And, believe me or believe me not, you've got to go and put your head in a bag to wear this hat properly. You're supposed to wear it on top of a black net bag, which you put over your head and tie quite firmly round your throat so that the ends make a ruffle round your neck. Someone who wears this is going to get a nasty remark about letting the cat out of the bag!

Finally, I do advise you to "go canny" with some of these new shapes. Of course, there are lots of Frenchwomen who will look superb in them but, then, French women don't feel ridiculous, so they don't look it.

Remember, if you do fall for one of the very mad hats, don't go around looking perpetually surprised at yourself. Just put on a bit more make-up—and bluff it out.

FLORAL TUNICS

For evening wear printed fabric is frequently used for tunics. These can be worn with skirts or décolleté gowns in the same way as jackets. Three or four tunics in different fabrics will bring variety to one instep or ground length black skirt for all manner of informal dress occasions.

As part of these two-piece ensembles, floral chiffon and floral organza play their roles. Coloured effects distributing big blue and pink poppies or bouquets of multi-coloured blooms on black grounds, make for interest because the outline arising from a black skirt remains unbroken.

Tunics can be regarded as accessory garments with lace as another summer evening medium. Take navy blue, which one designer stresses for wear with a white chiffon gown, showing the coloured lace inserted at intervals round the corsage. This idea suggests other contrasts and rises to a full blown evening style. Tunics are the compromise between jacket and ground-length redingotes, both of which can be worn with full-hemmed skirts.

Long redingotes in floral-patterned chiffon or organza strike admirable informal-evening-wear pictures. Impetus is given to those of chiffon by simple "princess" foundations of plain black and white or primitive coloured organdie. On the other hand the quality of floral printed organza suggests a foundation that clings in Chinese or soft satin.

A semi-fitted tailored top with sleeves at elbow or full length is invariably given to tunics. Sleeves nearly always convey leg o' mutton importance at shoulders, but if a silhouette does not agree, they can be tailored on the ordinary jacket line. This even applies to chiffon. If shoulders are broad, and when not leg o' mutton fullness is easy to follow and looks admirable, no matter how densely gathered into armhole.

Skirts vary in lengths which must be left to individual taste. If longer than knee length, their character becomes absorbed in a half-and-half-tunic redingote style which neutralises the meaning of the modern tunic. According to most designers they hang between mid thigh and knee level—possibly just beneath but not longer for perfection. Those of chiffon with flat backs and gathered fronts are rivals for fashionable favour with organza, undulating at sides or all round in semi-circular mood while some show lace tailored into flat lampshade effects. A point to remember is that opaque fabrics are the summer urge, away from more formal taffetas and satins.

→ PRE-VIEWWHEN THE SMART WOMAN
DRESSES FOR TOWNChic Tailored Suits In Black Moire With Fur Trimming

Every aspect of the tailor's art is beautified to-day. Throughout this past season, the smart silk-suit has triumphed over the more ethereal type of summer ensembles. Crêpe, cloqué and taffeta have played their part in the more dressy black and dark silks for day wear, and nothing has proved more effective and practical.

London and Paris decree firmly that the "dressy" suit will take a foremost position in the autumn and early winter wardrobe. Moiré, like cloqué or crêpe-and-wool allances is best for the early season. We should try to be strong-minded enough to hold-off velvet for a brief spell. There are plenty of odd little jackets ready-to-wear in velvet if desired.

Moiré, in black or very dark green assures of the smartest selection for day or formal function whilst later on we shall see fur-cloth used again.

Fur, never long absent has reappeared with renewed popularity as a trimming.

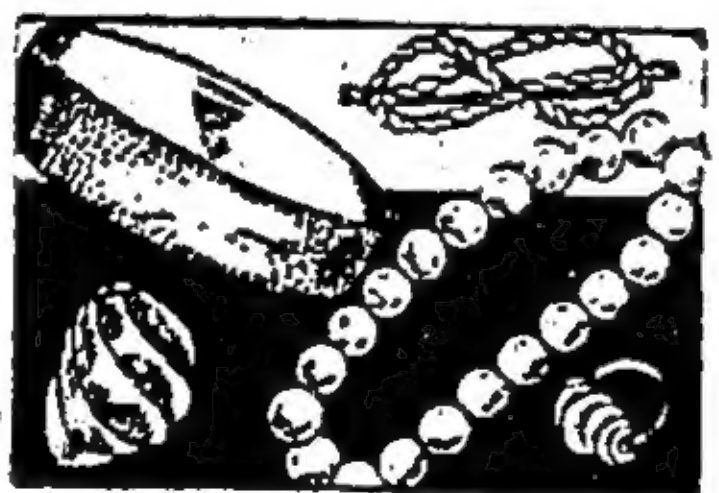

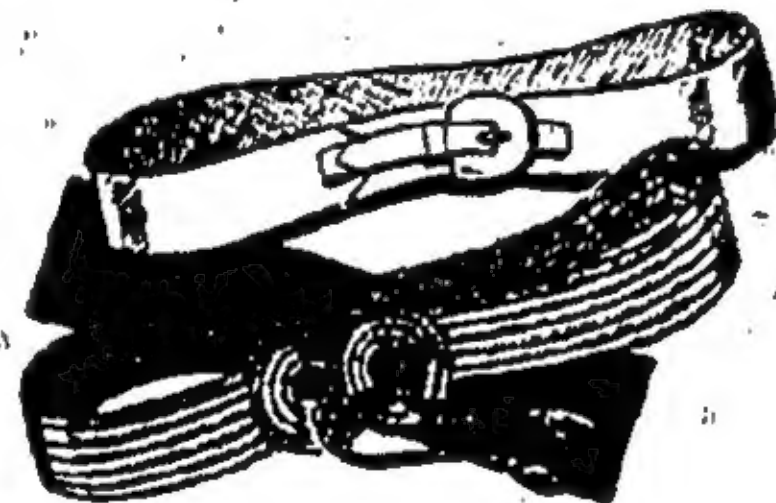

BELTS AND HANDBAGS

The flat, small collar at the base of the throat emphasises a detail of fashion. It is a distinctly Edwardian line and never too easy to wear. Other attractive adjuncts to this slim suit are the gloves and simple hat made of velvet. Neither must the soft leather belt pass unnoticed. This is rendered conspicuous by its lucky emblem.

American women solve the summer cleaning problem when on holiday by using a specially made cream, put up in tubes, for their hands, and a cleansing cream of particularly melting richness, which also takes the place of a skin food, for their face.

Belts will be more unusual than ever this autumn, and especially good style are those in coloured leather, with the new square handbags and ribbed leather shoes to correspond. In many cases belts are woven and worked into the fabric of a coat thereby indicating the waistline of any special model. By means of the belt the high, low, or medium waistline can be defined.

SHOPSLANE, CRAWFORD'S

Have just received a marvellous selection of hand-bags, for the Autumn and coming Winter. They have them in, morocco with two zips, brown box-calf, with lining of suede and various other qualities. Beautifully fitted travelling bags in green, brown and navy leathers, most suitable for short and long trips as they are not large, but very roomy.

MAIZEES

Just two more days left for you to call in at this store as the clearance sale closes Saturday. New goods that have just been unpacked will be on show from Monday. Some very pretty frocks are in this new shipment including a large number of evening gowns.

MAYOS

Day and evening flowers, in all shades to go with your costume, or your very special gown are to be had at Mayos. Certainly they have a fine selection for you to pick from.

GORDONS

New Autumn footwear are on display at this very popular shoe store, all in the latest designs and there are shoes for day wear, golfing and evening wear to choose from.

In forecasting the future of the waistline from a critic's point of view, I should give my vote for the normal waist, possibly a little on the high side, but except for youthful and ultra-slim figures—the daytime silhouette—that up-under-the-arms line style is never satisfactory. As a change, it is interesting, but as a lasting or popular note of fashion, no!

Skirts being shorter, proportions would be very ugly with a too-high waist and no bodice. It is also out of all keeping with the squared shoulder and simpler sleeve styles. With evening dress fashions it is different, for here very often the high waist can be most picturesque, especially with shoulders that slope after widening in the bodice style.

When all sorts of fads and fashions have been tried, we shall find that our every-day practical dress wants are admirably catered for. We may adopt fanciful blouses, waistcoats and hats—autumnal days call for colour—but black and the more sombre shades are the foundation choice for the town "tailleur." Brilliant colours can be added as circumstances and places demand. A nasturtium odd rusty colour, I am inclined to think, will prove more popular than the claret-red of the moment. There is also a very deep nasturtium red that is an admirable autumn relief to browns and seaweed green.

Says the Superintendent of a Medical Mission

"In the Medical Mission whenever we have to substitute mother's milk we always use Lactogen and we find our babies thrive on it. Mother's milk is the best food for baby, but whenever a substitute is needed my experience has proved Lactogen is the nearest and best suited food for babies. You are at liberty to use this letter."

M. F.

On Lactogen, Baby lays the foundation of a robust constitution—bone grows densely, flesh is firm, nerves steady, development is healthy and sturdy.

Lactogen is pure, fresh, full-cream, modified dried milk with extra cream and natural milk sugar added, made in all important respects exactly like breast milk.

LACTOGEN
BETTER MILK FOR BABIESAutumn
FashionDifferent Types
Of Blouses

Advance shows of autumn fashions are already being held in both Paris and London, and although it is too early to say that "this or that" is going to be worn in the autumn, there are always one or two features which are echoed in every collection.

Notably amongst these are blouses. There are blouses of every type and for every hour, and it is pretty certain that the blouse and skirt will be of first importance when we leave off our summer flimsies. The ordinary shirt blouse, or tailored waist, as the Americans call it, is giving place to the jacket-type of blouse.

This has shapely side seams and a spring or basque over the top of the skirt.

It buttons waistcoat-fashion down the front, and can be made in a fancy taffeta or light wool, or even a good linen.

Soft shirts in crêpe or satin will not be so popular. This, doubtless, is due to the broad shouldered, puff-sleeve effect which is noticeable in practically every model.

A stuffy material with some body in it is required to give this square effect the necessary "up-standingness."

Evening blouses are being made on the same jacket lines, but in lame or figured silk, whilst rest sports shirts are cut with pockets and polo collar, with no unnecessary fullness in the fronts. Shape, not sturdiness, will be the keynote of the 1937 blouse. Most of them, also, will be worn over the top of the skirt, so that no belt will be required.

TO BRITAINExcess Tonnage
Question

London, Sept. 2

A note was received at the Foreign Office to-day from the Japanese Embassy in London containing the Japanese Government's reply to the note of the British Government sent on July 15 in which Great Britain announced its intention to invoke the escalator clause under the London Naval Treaty of 1930 and to keep 40,000 tons of over-age destroyers in excess of 150,000 tons permitted under Article 16 of the treaty. In the note the Japanese Government state their intention in these circumstances to keep 15,598 tons of submarines as well as 11,059 tons of destroyers in excess of treaty figures to make up the extra 28,000 tons to which they become entitled in view of the British invocation of the escalator clause.
The reason given is that they have not sufficient over-age destroyer tonnage alone to make up total. The Japanese Government in their note do not adduce any legal arguments to support the correctitude of their proposed action under the terms of the London Treaty and the position now under consideration of the British Government.

FITNESS FOR THE ARMY
Debate On Kind Of Education
STRATEGISTS NOT SPORTSMEN

There is at present, both in the Army and out of it, a good deal of education which should be given to officers, and the manner of giving it.

The argument concerns the country because the Army serves the country. With an ever-growing need for efficient defence forces, it becomes more and more necessary that their personnel should be of the highest quality.

The only aim of military education clearly ought to be to turn out efficient soldiers. All those qualities of mind which make a man, under modern conditions, a better fighter, should be developed; all those which tend to lessen his fighting capacity should be trained out of him.

The defence forces do not need nowadays amiable men of the world, enlightened artists or brilliant conversationalists, or even "jolly good sportsmen." The days when the ability to play polo or to ride well to hounds took a man automatically to the high command have gone. Military technicians, scientists, and strategists are of far more value than M.F.H's.

A GOOD CASE
There is a good case to be made out in favour of a wider early education for young officers. It is being given lavishly to "other ranks." But the young man who scrapes into Sandhurst low down in the list and goes off immediately to a line regiment when his term is up, is apt to settle early into a narrow and routine professionalism, and show himself later in life a man far less informed far less "educated" than his new-style C.S.M.

In their highest ranks the Services need men of the keenest and most alert intelligence. "In the

SPECIAL INVESTIGATOR
Richard Dix turns federal Agent gets his man, and also gets his woman, in a thrilling tale of mortal combat and romance, cinematically told in RKO Radio's dramatic screen production "Special Investigator," at the Alhambra.

It is a grim and stirring story of a man whose unethical legal practice backfires on him, causing him to join the Government secret service, and track down the gangster who killed his brother. The film is an ideal vehicle for Dix, who, seen first as a suave big city attorney, suddenly is transplanted to a frontier atmosphere, and there matches wits with a dangerous mob of gangsters.

Margaret Callahan, plays the part of the gang leader's sister, supplies the romantic interest. Sheila Terry is the gold-digger. Erik Rhodes plays his first "heavy" role.

The film is crammed with action, and nicely interspersed with comedy bits intelligently handled by Director Louis King. Credit for a splendid adaptation of Earle Stanley Gardner's original story goes to Thomas Lennon. Louis Stevens and Ferdinand Reyher.

"SPLENDOR"
What happens when a spirited Southern beauty marries into one of New York's "first families" and is ruthlessly sacrificed in the battle to preserve their crumbling grandeur is depicted in dramatic fashion in "Splendour," the new Samuel Goldwyn film which brings Miriam Hopkins to the Star Theatre to-day. Joel McCrea appears opposite the star in this Rachel Crocherer story.

Prominent in the supporting cast are Paul Cavanagh, Helen Westley, Billie Burke, David Niven, Katherine Alexander and Ruth Weston.

Elliott Nugent handled the megaphone on "Splendour." The film is released through United Artists.

event of an emergency," as the politicians so prettily phrase it, the air marshals, the admirals and the generals are going to have complete control of the fighting power and of the lives of millions of men; the safety of the Empire and probably of civilisation will be in their hands. Unintelligent leadership "next time" would only too severely bring us to another and infinitely more disastrous Somme or Passchendaele.

Only fit minds trained in the whole theory of modern warfare and awake to its every unpleasant development, will be able to face this immense and ultimate responsibility. And even then a national war in practice, and war in text-books and on manoeuvres, are two very different things.

That is why military education is so important. The soldier, like the weapons he uses, is only there in readiness; but the readiness has to be as complete and shock proof as possible.

JOTTINGS
Chester Morris has obtained release from his M.G.M. contract and gone to Columbia, for whom he has recently played in "Counterfeit." His next film for them will be "There Goes the Bride" opposite Fay Wray.

Claude Rains has joined the cast of "Mistress of Fashion" Kay Francis's new film, which is to be directed by William Dieterle.

John Cromwell, now directing "To Mary—With Love," has been given a two-year contract by Twentieth Century-Fox. His first assignment will be "The McKinley Case," based on the life of the assassinated American President.

SIDNEY LODER-MITCHECOCK
Sylvia Sidney recently started work on her first British picture, "Sabotage" with John Loder as the lucky man who replaces Robert Donat in the male lead.

Intriguing, diminutive Miss Sidney stated when she arrived in England that only one consideration had brought her there: the fact that she was to be directed by Alfred Hitchcock.

Well, she has got her wish. Hitchcock, with his usual flair for "adapting" stories, is now making from Joseph Conrad's original, "Secret Agent," a hectic, sinister, thrilling melodrama, with Miss Sidney and John Loder to handle the love interest and Oscar Homolka as the villain of the piece. The picture is in production at Shepherd's Bush.

Rosalind Russell is returning to Hollywood from a very brief Honolulu holiday with one foot in a plaster cast.

She did it even before she reached Honolulu—slipped on deck while playing hop-scotch or some such foolishness.

What brings her back is a film she is to make for Columbia, who have borrowed her from M.G.M. (They need a Polonius around that place.)

Picture is called "Café's Wife," based on a stage play of the same name which won the Pulitzer Prize some years ago.

It will be directed by Dorothy Arzner, Hollywood's only important woman director.

Edward Chodorov, who pleased a lot with his adaptation of "Kind Lady" is temporarily deserting writing to produce the picture.

Elizabeth Patterson has been chosen to fill Marie Dressler's place in the Dressler-Beery scheme of things.

M.G.M. don't intend to make her a replica of Marie, but they think she has the right attributes to make as good a partner for Wallace Beery.

Miss Patterson has been on the screen ten years. Used to play with Ben Greet.

The new combination will be tried out for the first time in "Old Hunch"—Beery's next.

It should be started by now, with J. Walter Ruben directing.

Eric Linden, already cast, has been given Cecilia Parker as his love-interest again. They played together, extraordinarily well, in "Ah, Wilderness."

Joel McCrea, upper and coming every day, has been given a few weeks off by Sam Goldwyn to do a chore at Columbia.

The piece is called "Purple and Fine Linen." All about a detective and an actress.

Sounds very like "The Ex-Mrs. Bradford." Even more so when you know that Jean Arthur is to be the heroine.

Jean will probably do it (directed by Edward Ludwig) before she goes to Paramount for De Mille's Buffalo Bill epic.

Lionel Barrymore looks like becoming the old man on the flying dirigible very shortly.

Radio are hoping to borrow him to play in an aerial opus called Zeppelin. That depends, of course, on whether Lionel can get away from his duties at M.G.M.

M.G.M., having suddenly decided to make him a very full-blown star after all these years, the deal is only a fifty-fifty bet.

The story is based on the first voyage of the "Graf Zeppelin" in 1928. Barrymore would play the part of real-life Dr. Hugo Eckener.

The juvenile lead has already been fixed. It goes to John Beal, appearing as Eckener's also real-life son, Knute.

High-spot of the script is when Knute has to climb outside to mend a hole in the gas-bag and Papa Eckener has to order full speed ahead, knowing that the consequent movement may dislodge his son.

NEW DISCOVERY
Dye May Control Fever Infection
First results of a new dye treatment which appears to be able to control many of the more serious streptococcal infections associated with childbirth are to be published almost immediately.

Lord Howard de Walden, President of Queen Charlotte's Maternity Hospital, N.W., made this announcement recently in a speech read in his absence at the annual meeting of the hospital.

It had been established, he stated, that the microbes responsible for puerperal fever was, in most cases, not harboured by the mother herself. They might reach her from many outside sources. Sometimes even from the air of the room.

On the "side" of discovering an active remedy as opposed to the problem of prevention, results were also hopeful. Recent works in the laboratory and the wards made it appear probable, as was claimed in Germany a few months ago, that a certain dye could control streptococcal infections, for which treatment hitherto, had been very unsatisfactory. Further investigation was being actively pursued.

This development was the more gratifying in that it was quite unexpected.

CONFLAGRATION DANGER ON WATERFRONT

Storage Of Kerosene On Harbour Craft

TEST CASE IN KOWLOON

A test case was heard before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, when Lai Yu was convicted on a charge of not having a licence for the storage of dangerous goods on board his craft.

Mr. J. C. Fitz Henry, Deputy Superintendent of the Hong Kong Fire Brigade, appearing for the prosecution, told his Worship that he had been instructed to inform the Court that the charge was in the nature of a test case.

There were about 20 other craft anchored at Cheung Sha Wan Bay also loaded with kerosene distillate to the amount of 1,000 tons, which was illegal. If a fire occurred there at certain tides, it would be impossible for the fire boats to combat the menace, resulting in a major conflagration on the water front. The bay was congested at present.

He concluded by saying that besides the fine imposed on the defendant, he would also ask for the confiscation of the kerosene.

Mr. Fitz Henry said that about noon on September 2, he found 450 tins of kerosene distillate on board lighter TIV at Cheung Sha Wan Bay.

A number of folks were engaged in soldering caps onto the tins, and they were all smoking with complete disregard to precaution.

On enquiry as to whether the master of the vessel was on board, the defendant was very aggressive and refused to divulge his whereabouts.

Acting upon instructions from the Inspector General of Police, the defendant was given every opportunity to find the master, but he could not be found.

Mr. Himsforth, before sentencing defendant, said, "It doesn't take a great deal of imagination to visualize the great danger to lives and property incurred by your negligence."

"This court will do everything in its power to stop this practice." His Worship imposed a fine of $150, and made an order for the confiscation of the kerosene, adding that if the fine was not paid within five days, the vessel would be sold.

ANOTHER CASE

Confiscation was also granted by Mr. Himsforth when Chan Tak, the master of lighter 1782V failed to make an appearance in Court.

Mr. J. C. Fitz Henry, deposed that on August 8, at 11.45 a.m. he found 550 gallons of kerosene distillate, carbon of sulphuric acid and a complete outfit for the refining of kerosene on board the lighter.

Since that time the goods had been removed, and the lighter scuttled.

Mr. Himsforth issued a warrant for the defendant's arrest.

UNMUZZLED DOG SUMMONS

Magistrate Wants Further Evidence

Mrs. George, of 54, Pak Tai Street, first floor, was summoned to the Kowloon Magistracy for allowing her black and white terrier dog unmuzzled in the street.

Mr. E. Himsforth (Magistrate) adjourned the hearing for a week in order that further evidence might be obtained.

P.C.118, in the witness box, said that after seeing the unmuzzled dog, he gave chase and the animal ran up the steps of defendant's house.

Witness was stopped by an European woman, who was the owner of the dog, and he was asked why he was chasing the dog.

He explained that he wanted to find the owner, and some words ensued.

HEROIN IN TIN

For the possession of a tin containing heroin pills, Leung Wai, 28, unemployed, was fined $100 or three months' imprisonment. Revenue Officer J. L. Stephens prosecuted, and stated that the defendant was found in a divan, and that the tin of heroin was in an empty cigarette can in the cupboard.

OPIUM FOUND ON JAPANESE STEAMER

Submissions To Magistrate

CASE TO ANSWER ON ONE CHARGE

Lengthy submissions by both the Crown and the defence were made at the continued hearing before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Police Court yesterday of the case in which Yeung Chan Po was charged with doing an act preparatory to exporting raw opium on board the s.s. Hozan Maru, on July 29, and with possession of 5,600 tins of opium.

It will be recalled that when R. O. Ward and party acting on information conducted a search on the s.s. Hozan Maru they found five wooden cases in one of the holds. Inside each of these cases were six tins, each containing 40 pounds of opium, a total of 5,600 tins. The consignor of the cases was the Nam Lung firm of which the defendant was the manager. The defendant had stated that the cases were the property of Mei Kee.

Mr. M. J. Abbott, Assistant Crown Solicitor, appeared for the prosecution, whilst Mr. Hin Shing Lo was for the defence.

DEFENCE SUBMISSION

Mr. Lo submitted that the Crown had failed to prove control of the opium and had failed also to establish that his client had done anything preparatory to shipping the contraband.

The mere fact that the prosecution had brought in two alternate charges against his client showed the weakness of their case.

Mr. Lo attached great importance to certain documents featured in the case, and stated that the entire Crown case was based "on erroneous translation." His Worship could not hold that there was a prima facie case, merely on suspicion.

SHIPPING ORDER

Mr. Abbott stated that Mr. Lo in his eloquence forgot a shipping order relating to sweets and newspapers found with the opium, which lead to the ultimate revelation of the other documents.

A book which Mr. Lo had criticised as having been erroneously translated, apparently according to the defence related to commission paid on all transactions. The book had the name of the defendant firm on it and was it likely that they were paying commission to themselves? "A" paying commission to "B" is totally different to "A" paying commission to "A," added Mr. Abbott.

"I also ask Your Worship to place due weight on defendant's refusal to submit his books, until threatened with confiscation by the Import and Export Department," said Mr. Abbott. "I suggest that the Mei Kee and Man Loong firm are the one and same concern."

ONE CONCERN

The defence, stated the Assistant Crown Solicitor, had stressed the fact that one of the documents had omitted Mei Kee firm's name. It was unlikely that a shipping clerk would leave out a name unless he knew of this fact that the two companies were the one concern.

Defendant was somewhat deeply implicated by various facts submitted Mr. Abbott.

The Magistrate said that he found accused had a case to answer regarding the charge of doing an act preparatory to exporting raw opium. "On the charge of possession of opium the accused was accordingly dismissed. The case was provisionally adjourned to September 11.

Indian Constable In Trouble

False Evidence Alleged

HAWKER'S ACCUSATION.

Following closely upon the case when an Indian constable of the H.K. Police Force was fined $90 for supplying false information in evidence, another constable of the Indian contingent, B.700 was brought before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Police Court yesterday on a similar charge. He was remanded.

The accusation against B.700 arose as a result of charges he instigated against Pang Sum, 38, hawker, who was on Tuesday charged before Mr. Balfour for hawking without a licence, obstruction, and resisting arrest.

Pang pleaded "not guilty." B.700 in evidence alleged that he witnessed Pang hawking on a stairway of a house in Elgin Street, and when arrested defendant refused to go to the station.

DREW REVOLVER?

In answer to the charge, Pang denied hawking. He stated he visited an address in Elgin Street to deliver goods. The case was remanded till yesterday when evidence by his wife and two children was given. They alleged that the constable drew his revolver at one stage of the proceedings. B.700 also hit Pang with his truncheon, stated the witnesses.

Mr. Balfour discharged Pang stating that there was insufficient evidence to substantiate the hawking charge.

As a result of the Magistrate's decision, the constable was arrested and charged with giving false evidence. The case will be heard this morning.

ACCOUNTANT DISCHARGED

Alleged Receiving Of Stolen Jewellery

Formerly employed as an accountant in Swatow, and for the past five years occupied in the Colony in the same capacity, Tsui Choi Hung, 24, appeared before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday charged with receiving stolen property from a woman who had been concerned with a larceny.

The woman, Ma Yee, 36, was convicted a few weeks ago for theft of a cash box containing six pieces of jewellery valued at $235. It was alleged that at the time of the theft she was employed at No. 2 Village Road, as an amah.

Mr. D. B. Evans, appeared for Tsui and contended that there was insufficient evidence to convict his client. The Magistrate, however, intimated that he would like to hear the evidence of the defendant.

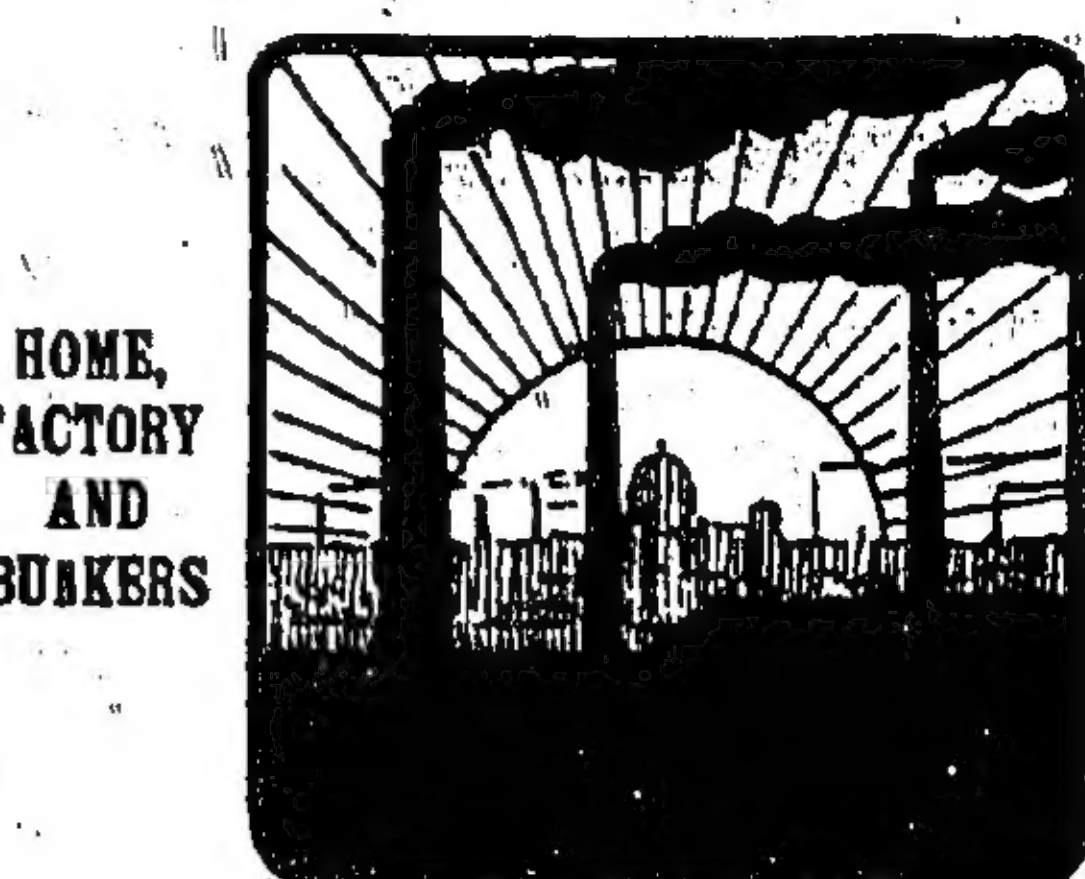

Tsui deposed that he became acquainted with Ma Yee as she was in the habit of buying rice at the shop where he was employed. "She visited the shop on August 7 with a basket wrapped in white cloth and asked me to look after it. I did not know the contents," said witness.

Following corroborative testimony by several witnesses, the Magistrate held that there was insufficient evidence and discharged the defendant.

Three seamen and a p/g-wash carrier were charged with assaulting two members of the Yau-mat Ferry Company before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday. They were Lai Wong, aged 30, Lai On, aged 27, Lai Hung, aged 27, all seamen employed by the Naval Dockyard, and Wong Shing, aged 20, a p/g-wash carrier. They were charged with assaulting Pang Lo, oiler, and Leung Cheung, coxswain, both of the Yau-mat Ferry launch "Man Lai." His Worship bound both first and second accused over in a bond of $5 to keep the peace for six months, and discharged third and fourth defendants. A.S.I. Hughes prosecuted.

UNREGISTERED MUI TSAIS BROUGHT INTO COLONY

Ignorance Plea By

Accused Women

GIRLS WELL CARED FOR

Three married women, who pleaded ignorance of the law were fined each $50 for bringing into the Colony three unregistered mui tsais, when they appeared on remand before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Police Court yesterday.

The accused Lui Yuet Kwai, and Lo Po Tse of No. 21 Pung Tai Terrace, and Wong Sau King, residing at No. 137 Jaffe Road, appeared genuinely concerned as they stood before the Magistrate, and one, with a child in her arms, wept unashamedly throughout the proceedings. One of the three mui tsais concerned in the case cried in sympathy.

Inspector H. W. Fraser of the S.C.A. remarked that the three girls had stated to the authorities their desire to leave their "protectors."

The defendants had recently come into the Colony from Kwangsi owing to the trouble there, continued the prosecuting officer. On Tuesday he received a message from No. 2 Police Station that three mui tsais had been brought to the Station. There he found one Chau Yee, who stated that she had been first sold to an old woman for $30 and on the death of the woman was sold to the husband of the first defendant for $100, while another, Tong Sai-yin, stated that she had been with the second defendant for two years, while the third, Yung Lui-chai, said that she had been with her present employer for three years and had been sold to her by kidnappers.

On August 31 all the defendants were at No. 21 Pung Tai Terrace, when the mui tsais were scolded for not doing certain work and they met in the kitchen and held a conference. They decided to leave the house by the back door. They spent two nights on the hillside and were found by the Police.

Inspector Fraser said that all the girls were well fed and had sufficient clothing and had no marks on the body or signs of having been beaten.

RUSSIAN EXPELLED

Entered Colony Without Valid Passport

Akim Peter Pevznan, 25, Russian, was charged before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Police Court yesterday for entering the Colony without a valid passport. Detective Sgt. F. E. Russell stated accused came from Macao on September 1.

Had defendant applied for a visa from the authorities, it would have been refused. Pevznan was ordered to be expelled from the Colony.

"ALMOST DRIVEN CRAZY"

Stated to be in business with his father and brother at Dergate, Northampton, George Claude Brown, 41, was at Westminster charged with fraudulently travelling on the Underground Railway between the City and Baker-street, and further, having failed to pay his fare, with giving a false name and address.

Brown suggested that he was very shocked and ill owing to having separated from his wife, and came to London by coach. Being in the midst of very heavy domestic problems, he had no object in view, and spent "all one morning reading in the British Museum."

"I cannot understand what you were doing travelling round London like this," broke in the magistrate, Mr. Ronald Powell.

"My troubles have almost driven me crazy," answered Brown. "I have been sleeping in a lodging-house."

The magistrate asked the probation officer, Mr. Marsh, to interview Brown, and later Mr. Marsh reported that the man informed him that he came to London with a view to obtaining evidence for a divorce.

The latter part of his train journey was done in sheer fright, as he knew he was being followed. Mr. Powell fined Brown 20s, and 10s. ed. costs, and added that he had better get back home at once.

SERVANT'S HIGH AMBITION

Sudden desire to live in the same sphere of life as people by whom he had been employed was the reason suggested for the amazing action of Victor George Tullett, 20, a manservant, of Kingsfield-road, Southampton, who was fined $10 and five guineas costs at Bridge-water for obtaining $1 by false pretences.

Mr. J. H. Barrington, prosecuting, stated Tullett took a furnished cottage at Chilton Polden, and then advertised it to let. He received numerous replies and deposits varying from 5s. to $2 1s.

But for the intervention of the police, following the landlady's suspicion on reading a postcard reply to Tullett's advertisement, about 200 people would have arrived in the village at the same time, all clamouring for the same cottage.

Tullett, who was stated to have been second footman in the Stewards' Room, at Buckingham Palace, declared that he decided he could afford a holiday, but after a week at Chilton Polden got thoroughly fed up, and the idea came to sublet the place. He would now return all the money he had received.

FIRST WOMAN TO RECEIVE THE STANHOPE GOLD MEDAL

The Duke of York, the president of the Royal Humane Society, presented at 145, Piccadilly recently the Stanhope Gold Medal to Miss Evelyn Granam Irons for the bravest deed of 1935. Miss Irons rescued a woman from drowning under very courageous circumstances at Tressith Beach, Cardiganshire. She is the first woman to receive the Stanhope Gold Medal and the first woman since Grace Darling to receive the gold medal of the society. Admiral Sir Michael Hodge, Brigadier-General C. S. H. D. Willoughby, and Mr. Dunbar Kilburn represented the society. Miss Irons was accompanied by Mrs. Irons, her mother, Mrs. MacSweeney, the person saved, and Mrs. Ewbank.

TUBERCULOSIS TREATMENT

Why Cases Are Refused NEED FOR SANATORIUM

[To the Editor "Hong Kong Daily Press"]

Sir,
My attention has been drawn to the report in Wednesday's issue of the "Daily Press" relative to provision of treatment in Hong Kong for T.B.

It is not generally known that at the Haw Par Hospital, Cheung Chau, there is a ward devoted to the treatment of T.B. children taken over from the Tung Wah Hospital, from the funds of which organisation a small contribution is made towards the cost of food of these patients.

Much more could be done for similar cases if a larger measure of financial support were accorded.

Applications for admission have to be refused for lack of support (not lack of accommodation) as apart from every other consideration, food alone is a large item in the monthly bill.

The Hospital which has a resident Medical Officer and a staff of qualified nurses is ideal as a residence for T.B. cases, situated as it is on the seashore with the maximum of sunshine and ozone. Medical men who have visited the institution are impressed most favourably with its suitability for T.B. children.

IT IS HOPED THAT IN THE NEAR FUTURE THAT A PUBLIC BENEFACITOR AND PHILANTHROPIST WILL ADD AN ADDITIONAL STOREY IN THE FORM OF AN OPEN AIR WARD FOR THE BENEFIT OF T.B. CASES ON THE COMPLETION OF WHICH, ACCOMMODATION FOR AN ADDITIONAL 100 T.B. CHILDREN WILL BE PROVIDED.

THE BUILDING IS NOT REGARDED AS A SANATORIUM IN ANY SENSE OF THE WORD, AND IN VIEW OF THE ENORMOUS NUMBER OF T.B. CASES IN THE COLONY IS BUT "A DROP IN THE OCEAN".

A beginning has been made to "Save the children" and it is from "little acorns that great oaks grow."

Arrangements will be made for members of the public sufficiently interested to visit the Haw Par Hospital at Cheung Chau and see things for themselves.

Thanking you for the favour of insertion.

Yours faithfully,

ROSA LANGLEY,
Hon. Secretary of St. John Ambulance Association and Brigade.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Urban Council, the Chairman (Mr. R. R. Todd) in the course of replies to questions stated: "There are no special facilities for the treatment of tuberculosis in the Colony, that is to say there is no tuberculosis sanatorium; but palliative treatment is given in a hospital."—Editor, "Hong Kong Daily Press."

LAI TO REST

Late Mrs. Tulia Ribeiro

We regret to record the death of Mrs. Tulia Ribeiro, widow, aged 36, who passed away at her home, 28 Robinson Road, on Tuesday morning. The burial took place in the Roman Catholic Cemetery at 5.30 p.m. the same day.

A large gathering of friends were present at the graveside. The chief mourners were the deceased's two sons, Hugo and Zulema.

Those present included Messrs. D. Ribeiro, A. C. V. Ribeiro, D. Fernandez, N. Rodriguez, D. Rodriguez, D. Rozario, N. Morales, and Mr. and Mrs. Castilho.

The Very Rev. Father G. M. Spada officiated. Many wreaths were laid on the grave.

ACCIDENTS IN COLONY

WEEKLY TRAFFIC RETURN

In the Colony of Hong Kong including the Island, Kowloon and the New Territories during the week ending at 8 a.m. on Saturday, August 29, there were altogether 41 traffic accidents, as the result of which 1 person was killed and 18 persons were injured.

The person killed, a Chinese boy, aged 9 years, died as the result of injuries received, when he was knocked down by a motor lorry whilst running across the street.

Of the persons injured, 14 were pedestrians who were either walking across the road and were struck by vehicles.

FALL OFF LORRY

One lorry passenger was injured through falling from a moving motor lorry.

One private motor car driver and a passenger were injured when their vehicle skidded and collided with the hillside.

One private motor car driver was injured when the vehicle ran off the road down hillside.

Of the 41 accidents, 18 were collisions between vehicles; 18 were collisions between vehicles and pedestrians; and 5 accidents were due to other causes.

BISHOP OF HONG KONG BEREAVED

Mother Passes Away In England

Cabled intimation of the death of Bishop R. O. Hall's mother in England has been received by the Rev. H. W. Barnes.

The deceased lady passed away peacefully on Tuesday, after having been taken ill on August 25, the 88th anniversary of her birth. Bishop Hall is at present on leave in England, and his many friends in the Colony will deeply sympathise with him in the heavy bereavement which he has suffered.

Bishop Hall is expected to return towards the end of the year.

PLACE OF DENTISTRY IN CHINA

Use Of Desensitizer Said To Be Limited

DR. LINDSAY'S VIEWS

The much-heralded desensitizer, a new discovery in painless dentistry which has aroused world-wide interest, is valueless as a general anaesthetic, but is useful in its own limited field, Dr. Ashley Lindsay, known as the "father" of dentistry in China, and a noted authority on local anaesthesia, declared recently.

"Only certain types of cavities have responded to the desensitizer," said Dr. Lindsay. "With these it has been very successful. They are the shallow, smooth-surfaced cavities." When the interviewer remarked that it was the filling of deep cavities which was most painful, Dr. Lindsay replied that people should not allow their teeth to decay so far.

DENTISTRY IN CHINA

In discussing the value and place of dentistry in China, Dr. Lindsay said that, after careful observations over a period of 25 years, it was obvious its objectives have moved from the emphasizing of reparative dentistry to preventive dentistry, and the end is not yet. "Should China permit the development of dental education and dental practice without considering the changed objectives due to advances of scientific knowledge, without meeting the growing demands for reduced cost of dental care, and without studying the advantages of a more adequate dental personnel, she will miss a golden opportunity of taking a place in the forefront of those nations who have begun to study ways and means of meeting the needs of a changing order," he continued.

Oral health being most important to our constitutional health, it was necessary that China's Public Health Service should take in dental with medical service. The adults of this generation would not receive much care, because of the present system of individual competitive practice, which made dental care too expensive for the common classes. He believed that group practices, which are really clinics, are necessary in order that good dental care and therefore, health may be given to children.

Describing the ideal group practice, he said that four member divisions would be necessary: (1) the scientist with solid scientific training to take care of different cases, diagnosis, and see the mouth in relation to the rest of the body; (2) technicians who know how to do certain mechanical operations, such as fillings, etc.; (3) nurses to assist, as in hospitals; and (4) dental prophylacticians responsible for keeping the mouth clean.

IMPORTANCE OF DENTAL PRACTICE

Emphasizing the vital importance of dental practice going hand in hand with medical practice, Dr.

Lindsay described the inside of a tooth and said it contained a canal which was really a test-tube from which germs of decay and disease were released directly into the blood stream. Therefore, the dangers of an unhealthy mouth to the rest of the body could not be overestimated. Only in recent years had the layman begun to be aware of this, although oral surgeons had always known it.

China has a golden opportunity to profit from the mistakes of the rest of the world now, and the steps necessary for her to make a competent dental service, according to Dr. Lindsay, include the following:—A board of examiners must be organized, the type of dental practice should be agreed upon, i.e., group or individual practice, an early decision should be made as to whether China is or is not to have State dentistry or some other form of socialized dentistry, dental service in general hospitals, municipal, rural and school clinics must be organized; medical relations must be determined; Advisors, executive administrators, and teachers should be invited from abroad to aid in guiding and teaching, until an adequate number of fully-competent Chinese are prepared to take over these positions, dental laws and regulations must be promulgated and carried into effect; standards of practice should be set up; quack and incompetent so-called dental practitioners of all types must be eliminated at an early date.

HIS WORK IN CHINA

Dr. Lindsay, over fifty, yet not looking more than 45, impresses one with his enthusiasm and driving force. Coming out to China in 1907, he has seen his dream of a dental college realized. From this now famous institution have come many graduates who are practicing throughout China. Returning after an absence of eighteen months, Dr. Lindsay, Dean of the Dental College of the West China Union University in Chengtu, and Mrs. Lindsay, arrived only lately in the S. Empress of Asia. They spent six months in Montreal, where Dr. Lindsay was born, and the rest of the time in Toronto, where he obtained his M.Sc. (Dent.) from the University of Toronto.

Dr. Lindsay will leave shortly for Nanking, having been invited by the Central Government to serve as an adviser on dental

OPENING OF CANTON -HANKOW RAILWAY

Gigantic Bridge Planned For Yangtze

APPOINTMENT OF TRAIN STAFF

Traffic on the Canton-Hankow railway was to be opened on Sept. 1, according to information from the railway administration.

Messrs. Ling Hung-shan, Chow Chung-chi and Cheng Hsiao-kang, managing director, assistant managing director and traffic manager respectively, left Wuchang on Aug. 24 for a trip along the railway to make a final inspection and adjustment prior to its formal opening to traffic on the date scheduled.

Since Aug. 20, train service on the south section of the line has already been extended from Canton to as far as Hengchow in Hunan, while traffic on the north section, i.e., between Hankow and Changsha, is running as usual.

FINAL TOUCHES

Final touches to engineering work were completed by the end of last month, and now last-minute preparations, especially with respect to the assignment of rolling stock and appointment of train staff, are being feverishly pushed.

To facilitate through traffic between the Canton-Hankow and Peiping-Hankow railways the administration has decided to build a gigantic iron bridge across the Yangtze River, similar to the Yellow River iron bridge in Honan.

An engineering project has already been drafted and submitted by the administration to the Ministry of Railways for consideration and approval. But in view of the huge expenditure and length of time involved in its construction the administration is planning to build a train ferry, or improve the present boat ferry service, to meet the urgent need.

After the abolition of the offices of the Hupien-Hunan, Canton-Shinkwan and Chuchow-Shinkwan sections, a unified administration has been established at Hsueh-lapang, Wuchang, with sub-offices in Hankow and Canton. As a result of the reorganization, a large number of the staff members of the three former offices have been discharged.

Measures are being devised for a thorough readjustment of the affairs of the railway with a view to co-ordinating the work of various departments and increasing their efficiency.—

FIVE YEAR PROJECT TO RECLAIM LAND

Along Kiangsu Coast

CONSTRUCTION OF GIGANTIC DYKE

A five-year plan for the reclamation of 33,000,000 mow of arid land in Nantung, Yencheng, Lienshui and other districts along the Kiangsu coast has been mapped out by the Kiangsu Provincial Government.

For the execution of the project the provincial government plans to raise a total of $100,000,000 from Shanghai banks at different periods.

The project is divided into three phases, dredging of an irrigation canal, building of a dyke along the coast and reclamation of land.

The new canal, measuring about 700 li in length, will start from Chenchikang, in Lienshui, and end at Chohsiehchen, in Nantung, passing through Foning, Yencheng, Tunxai, and Yukao. Its width at the top will be 20 feet and at the bottom 10 feet and its depth will be 15 feet. A loan of $3,000,000 will be raised to cover the dredging expenses.

GIGANTIC DYKE

To protect the land from the sea a gigantic dyke will be constructed from Kolshechen to Chenchikang, measuring a distance of more than 400 li. To minimize expenses several old dams along the route will be repaired and linked up with the projected dyke. Two sluices will also be built to regulate the water between the canal and the sea. Conservancy work will also be done to the inlets along the coast to facilitate shipping. The total cost for dyke and sluice construction, and conservancy work has been estimated at $22,000,000.

Reclamation work will be carried out in five years. For the first year a loan of $40,000,000 will be raised for the purpose, for the second year $30,000,000, for the third year $20,000,000, and for the fourth year $10,000,000. It is expected that up to the fifth year the profit reaped from the reclaimed land will be up to $130,000,000, which will be enough to repay the total loans.—

AIR MAIL FOR COLONY SALVAGED

The Postmaster-General of Hong Kong (Mr. H. R. Butters) was informed by cable from London yesterday that "all Hong Kong air mail was salvaged from the Scipio."

The Scipio crashed while alighting in a rough sea in Mirabel's Gulf, Crete, with the loss of two lives. The captain, crew of three, and five of the seven passengers were rescued.

health with the National Health Administration. His appointment is the outcome of a visit the Generalissimo and Mme. Chiang Kai-shek made to Chengtu some time ago, when they were much impressed with his splendid work in dental education and the dental clinic established by him. The dental clinic established in Nanking is also the result of the Generalissimo's visit.

DR. H. D. MATTHEWS LEAVES COLONY

Took Keen Interest In Church Welfare

Dr. H. D. Matthews, a well-known resident of the Colony, left for Australia aboard the E. and A. steamer Tandia.

He came from Australia three months ago to take charge of the Matilda Hospital during the absence of the medical superintendent, Dr. J. H. Montgomery, who returned last week from the North.

Previous to going to Australia a few months ago he practised in Hong Kong for several years with the firm of Drs. Strahan, Kirk, Nicolson, Bunje and Matthews. He was President of the Australian and New Zealand Association and took a very live interest in the work at St. Andrew's Church where he often occupied the pulpit. He also had the welfare of St. Andrew's Club at heart and his departure will be a keen loss.

Before coming to Hong Kong, Dr. Matthews worked as a medical missionary in China.

"CRAMMING" CHILDREN

A timely warning against the encroachment of examinations upon our children's lives has been uttered recently by Sir Percy Nunn. He should know what he is talking about. He is director of the Institute of Education at London University.

He protests, strongly and rightly, against "the examination imposed upon children about the age of ten and a half, and on which so much of their educational future depends."

He was speaking of the examination for "special places" in the secondary schools.

Between the ages of 10 and 11, the educational future of the elementary school child is determined.

Children who have been "crammed" for an examination between the ages of 10 and 11 are being unnaturally treated.

They are being forced like a hot-house flower. Only too often, their brief promise fades in the same way.

Precociousness and laborious coaching, not intelligence, have won them their place.

On the other hand, the children who have not been pushed and pulled into premature knowledge may miss the secondary school altogether.

"Many of us have a strong suspicion," Sir Percy Nunn has stated "that the earlier education of children is distorted by reason of the presence of examinations."

The examination for entrance to the secondary schools is not the only instance in which true education is distorted by the system.

The school certificate, with its attendant shadow of matriculation, is being forced on children at an increasingly early age.

Absurdly, many employers demand, as a condition of employment, success in an examination designed to test entrance to a university.

That is the prime fault with the whole examination system.

NANKING-KWANGSI PEACE PARLEY
CANTON DELEGATES IN NANKING

Welcomed By Warlords

Canton, September 3. Owing to fierce rainstorm, the airplane carrying the three peace mediators, Chu, Kooy and Ching was forced to put back twice and return here, after having proceeded as far as Shao Hing. At 9.25 a.m. yesterday, the airplane started again under favourable weather conditions, and arrived safely at Nanking at noon.

On reaching Nanking, Mr. Kooy Ching and General Chu Pu-teh and Ching Ching were welcomed by Generals Li Tsung-jen, Li Chishum, Pei Chung-hsi and others, and escorted to the Lok Kwan Club.

The same night a conference was held and attended by Mr. Kooy Ching and General Chu Pu-teh and Ching Ching, representing the Central Government and Generals Li Tsung-jen, Pei Chung-hsi and Tsai Ting-kai, representing Kwangsi, to consider the Central Government's terms and conditions for unification and a peace settlement.

After the conference, General Li Tsung-jen and Pei Chung-hsi called a meeting of Kwangsi Government and "Party" officials to consider the terms of the Central Government with a view to a peaceful settlement.

Another conference has been convened for to-day for an exchange of views of both parties.

Should this exchange of views result in a settlement satisfactory to both sides, General Chu Pu-teh will return to Canton to-day by the same airplane to report the result to Marshal Chiang Kai-shek.

Otherwise, the discussions will be continued, until something definite has been settled.

Should, however, the present negotiations end in failure, it is reported that Marshal Feng Yuhsiang, the Christian General, will be asked to mediate.—Chinese Evening Post.

PEACE CONFERENCE AT NANKING

More Compromising Attitude By Kwangsi Leaders

Shanghai, Sept. 3. The attention of the nation is focussed upon Nanking, where a peace conference between Nanking and Kwangsi delegates is reported to have been in progress since yesterday.

The peace mission, comprising Mr. Chu Cheng, President of the Judicial Yuan, General Cheng Chien, Chief of the General Staff and General Chu Pei-teh, Director of Military Education, arrived at Nanking at noon yesterday.

They were welcomed by representatives of General Li Tsung-jen and Dr. Wang Chung-hui. It is generally expected that an important announcement as to the outcome of the conference will be made before the week-end.

Meanwhile, a report from Hong Kong says the Kwangsi leaders are showing a more compromising attitude.

According to the Chinese press, Generals Li and Pei have telegraphed to the Kwangsi Military Headquarters stating that the Kwangsi troops in South-western Kwangtung are rapidly withdrawing from their original positions.—Reuter.

It is based on the needs of the universities; it is applied to thousands who will never go there.

The influence of the universities has kept such academic subjects as Latin in the curriculum. Thousands of children learn enough Latin to scrape through matriculation, and drop it immediately afterwards.

What the country needs is a younger generation trained to be alert, sensible, able to play its part in the world with assurance and success.

The demand for early specialized knowledge can only stand in the way of this ideal.

TWO CHINESE ARRESTED

Japanese Murder Suspects

Shanghai, Sept. 3.

Two Chinese, Tsou Kwei-fung, thirty nine, of Yungchow, and Ching Dao-jen, nineteen, of Shanghai, appeared in the Chinese court this morning on suspicion of complicity in both the murders of Kayao on July 10 and Nakayama on November 10 last year. The Court ordered the men to be detained pending further investigations.

They were arrested by the Chinese Police at Chapel yesterday and promptly handed over to the Settlement Police who are prosecuting.

This new development is expected to have important bearing on the case against the three men already charged in connection with the Nakayama slaying, the verdict in which has been repeatedly postponed.—Reuter.

After addressing the provincial and party officials, and over one thousand citizens who extended him a warm welcome, and highly commending the great progress made in road constructions, Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang left for Hu Chow and Ka Hing by motor car on a tour of inspection, subsequently returning to Nanking by the Shanghai-Nanking Railway.—Chinese Evening Post.

JAPAN'S NAVY DECISION

Surplus Tonnage Retention

CONTROVERSY IN NAVAL CIRCLES

London, Sept. 3.

The Japanese decision to retain 31,059 tons surplus destroyers and 15,598 surplus submarines in reply to the British retention of 40,000 tons in destroyers under the escalator clause occasions controversy in naval circles.

The London Treaty strictly only permits Japan to retain vessels in the same category as retained by Great Britain. Japan argues that she has insufficient over-age destroyers to make up 28,000 tons to which she is entitled and therefore will substitute submarines for the balance.

Experts believe that Japan already possesses the maximum of submarines permitted by treaty, hence at the end of the year she will have a substantial excess.

The British and American Governments are considering a reply.

The "Times" says: "It is arguable whether the Japanese decision is within the spirit of the treaty, but departures from the terms of the treaty ought not to be made except with the consent of all signatories, nor can ambiguities be decided unilaterally. Differences regarding interpretation of the treaty doubtless will be resolved by further discussion."

Japanese advices from Washington indicate that the United States is unlikely to protest on the ground that Japan is within the spirit of the treaty, and it is also more economical to retain submarines than build new destroyers in view of the near expiration of the treaty.—Reuter.

ANSWER TO BRITAIN

London, Sept. 2.

The Japanese reply to the British note invoking the Escalator Clause of the Washington and London Naval Treaties, says that Japan intends to retain 11,000 tons of surplus destroyers and 15,600 tons of surplus submarines.

This is the Japanese answer to Great Britain's declaration of the intention to retain 40,000 tons of surplus destroyers.

The Japanese note is under consideration.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

THE CHENGITU INCIDENT

Japanese Demands Expected

Nanking, Sept. 2.

Owing to the recent Chengtu affairs, and the killing of Japanese newspapermen by a riotous mob, the Central Government is determined to arrest and punish the guilty persons in strict accordance with law and reason.

The attitude of the Japanese Government is not known, but according to foreign press reports, it is feared that grave complications will result.

It is reported that the Japanese military party will urge the Government amongst other demands to ask for (a) the immediate dissolution of the Kuomintang, (b) the suppression of all Anti-Japanese movements, and (c) the destruction of all Anti-Japanese school text books, as terms of settlement.—Chinese Evening Post.

CANTON-HANKOW RAILWAY

First Through Train

Canton, Sept. 3.

The first through train trip of the Canton-Hankow Railway took place on September 1, after many years of vexatious delay. The means great prosperity for China, particularly in regard to communications, agriculture, economics and the general welfare of the people.

Owing to its close proximity to Canton, the Southern terminus of the Canton-Hankow Railway, Hong Kong will be one of the chief places to benefit. Besides Hong Kong is the principal shipping port of South China, and is already connected with Canton by the Canton-Hankow Railway.

Passengers will now be able to travel from London to Hong Kong by railway, one continuous journey through the two continents of Europe and Asia.—Chinese Evening Post.

SUBMARINES DON'T CARE!

Battled Through Typhoon And Monsoon FROM MALTA TO HONG KONG

"THE PERFORMANCE OF THE SUBMARINES WHICH LEFT FOR THE CHINA STATION FROM THE MEDITERRANEAN WITHOUT ESCORT, WAS ASTOUNDING. IT SHOWS A GREAT IMPROVEMENT HAS BEEN ACHIEVED IN SUBMARINE DESIGN, AND FURTHERMORE IT PROVED THE RELIABILITY OF THEIR ENGINES."

This was said by an official of the Royal Navy yesterday after the Pandora and the Ostris arrived in the waters of the Colony from Singapore.

"Five years ago" said the naval spokesman during an interview with a representative of the "Daily Press," "a similar performance by a submarine would have been looked upon as impossible. They are not meant to be 'greyhounds'."

Both the submarines which berthed at the South Wall yesterday received a severe buffeting when a day out from Singapore, and sustained damage to their "casings" . . . a structure which is exposed when the submarines are not submerged.

We thought we were running into a typhoon, but were fortunate to miss it, said our informant.

The Pandora and the Ostris are now in the hands of engineers from the Naval Yard and it was definitely stated that work in this connection would be completed in five days time. We are then leaving for Wei Hai Wei. I don't know for how long . . . as we have not received our orders, was the official statement.

What did the submarines do in the typhoon? They did not dive below to avoid "the roll of the waves" during the threatened typhoon encounter but

REBEL ATTACK ON BEHOBIA

GOVERNMENT TROOPS GET READY

Fire Opened On Main Body Of Insurgents

Hendaye, September 3.

The insurgent attack on Behobia began in the morning. Three hundred men reinforcements from Pampelona in four Navarrese motor coaches flying the insurgent scarlet and gold flags arrived at an observation post facing La Puncheda redoubts where they burst sandbags stained with blood. The defenders are still lying about. Later new armoured cars, followed by two tractor-drawn runs, appeared.

The new troops, mostly Carlists, wearing red berets, advanced in extended order to Behobia according to plan, then took cover and opened fire on the main body of insurgents resting in the rear singing and shouting "Viva Espana!" In the meanwhile Government shells fell here and there, but many were duds.

END IN SIGHT

Approaching the international bridge from the other side of Behobia groups of Popular Front militiamen spread themselves out at the entrance to the town firing unceasingly, whilst three government planes flew over bombing the insurgent lines.

"It is the end and Irun will soon be taken," said some refugees who were crossing the frontier by the hundreds. The morale of Irun is about exhausted.

DESPERATE DEFENCE

Contrary to earlier reports, it now appears that Behobia is proving an important stumbling block to the insurgents' victorious advance on Irun. They have made little ground since the capture of San Marcial.

The battle was resumed vigorously at dawn, both sides subjecting the opposing positions to heavy rifle fire.

The Government battery at Fronterrabia ceaselessly bombarded San Marcial in a desperate effort to prevent the advance of the insurgents' now firmly established on several points surrounding Irun, notably on Bidasoa River, Irun-Pampelona road and San Marcial road.

Government forces worked all night long erecting defences. The insurgents' advance was hampered at night time by darkness and drizzle. All traffic ceased at Irun whilst the inhabitants rarely venture from their houses at Hendaye where stray bullets continue to fall.

Two French Civil Guards were wounded by fire from the Spanish side of the frontier near Behobia. Another batch of fifty four militiamen fled across the border and were disarmed.

PLANES FORCED DOWN

The Government announces that loyalist forces defeated a determined insurgent attack at Estremadura front.

Government planes flew over the enemy lines at dawn and dropped a quantity of bombs. Two insurgent planes were forced down in flames.

HEAVY FIGHTING

After a spell in which both sides on the Irun front were busy consolidating their positions and repairing their defences, heavy fighting recommenced this afternoon. Machine-guns and artillery vigorously bombarded opposing lines.

The situation for the Government troops suddenly changed for the worse when the insurgents made a big advance, occupying nearly the whole of Mount Turlarte, the main bastion of the loyal defences before Irun.

Observers on the frontier believe the Government position is now desperate, as the capture of the ridge opens the way to the command of the main road from Irun to San Sebastian.

FOREIGN LEGIONAIRES

Insurgent leaders propose to recruit another battalion of Foreign Legionnaires, which will remain for the duration of the civil war.

At the disbandment of hostilities those who wish to continue in the service will be absorbed into other battalions.

FRANCE AND SPAIN

German Press View

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Berlin, Sept. 3. The French supplies of arms and ammunition to the Spanish Government are attracting much attention in the German press. "Der Angriff" points out in this connection that it is manifestly becoming increasingly difficult for the French Government to maintain sincere neutrality to the civil war in Spain. The paper goes on to say:

"It can scarcely be expected that other countries will continue indefinitely to watch this spectacle and consider themselves bound by the neutrality agreement which France—with whom the idea of this agreement originated—persistently violates."

The widely read "Dresdner Neueste Nachrichten" stresses that this state of affairs cannot be prolonged. The paper says:

"It must be frankly stated that the French Government does not appear conscious of the grave responsibility which it assumed when it asked the other powers to blind themselves to remain neutral."

A similar view is taken by the important "Leipziger Neueste Nachrichten," which writes that the country which itself exports war material to one of the belligerents forfeits the right to demand of others to remain neutral.

RED MILITIA THREAT

To Shoot French Ambassador

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Paris, Sept. 3. The Spanish Red Militia guarding the frontier to France threatened to shoot the French Ambassador to Madrid, Herbet, according to a despatch to the "Matin," which states that the Ambassador's motor car containing the Ambassador and his wife and a French citizen of Spanish origin, named Cabalero, from San Sebastian to the border, was held up by the Militia, who demanded that Cabalero should be surrendered to them.

The Ambassador protested vigorously, whereupon one of the Reds shouted, "Would you like a bullet yourself?" Herbet replied "Shoot the French Ambassador if you dare."

The despatch goes on to say that at this stage a French frontier guard intervened and released the car, which proceeded on its way with all its occupants.

GERMAN ARMY MEASURE

French Attitude Outlined

Paris, Sept. 2. France's reply to Germany's increase in the period of military service is likely to consist of a quantitative and qualitative increase in guns and war materials, according to well-informed diplomatic correspondents.

"L'Intransigeant" diplomatic correspondent believes that the extension of French military service will be rejected on economic grounds.

Simultaneously, however, France will likely forge ahead with the organisation of collective security pacts, in connection with which reaffirmation of the Franco-Polish Alliance of 1922 is regarded as an important factor.

According to this correspondent M. Edouard Daladier, the War Minister, estimates that in October the German army will number 850,000 men, of whom 280,000 will be professional soldiers, compared to the French military strength of 400,000 of whom only 80,000 are professionals.

WORLD TRADE REGISTER

Small Rise In Gold Value

London, Sept. 3.

Comparatively stable exchanges during 1935 caused the gold value of the world trade register the first small rise by 1.9 per cent. since 1929 states the League of Nations annual survey. Measured in terms of sterling the improvement amounted to 5.3.

With gold prices somewhat under 1934, the quantum of world trade rose by about 4.5 to 82 per cent. of the 1929 level.

The gold value of Europe's trade declined two per cent., while all other continents combined gained six per cent., with North America benefiting most, the United States imports being twenty four and exports 8.2 per cent. higher.

Exports of gold bloc countries suffered declines. France 13.5, Netherlands 5, Netherlands Indies 4.5 lower, but those of Germany were 4.2, China 13.5, Japan 10.8, United Kingdom 4.6 India 3.0, Malaya 1.0 South Africa twenty one per cent. higher compared with 1934.

NON-INTERVENTION IN CIVIL WAR

LONDON COMMITTEE PROPOSAL

London, September 3.

Hungary and Finland have signified their intention to be represented on the London Committee which it is proposed should be set up to deal with the questions arising out of the operation of a non-intervention agreement among the powers. Agreement has already been received in Paris from Moscow to appoint a Soviet representative to serve on the Committee. With regard to Germany's attitude, the British Charge d'Affaires in Berlin made representations at the German Foreign Office yesterday and was promised an early reply.

GERMAN ATTITUDE

Berlin, Sept. 3. Chancellor Hitler is now considering the question of appointing a delegate to the International Committee of control on non-intervention in Spain.

Germany is stated to be "ready in principle" to send a delegate, but the question of competence of the committee will first have to be considered.

The Portuguese acceptance is accompanied by a number of suggestions and requests for explanations which will receive consideration in London and Paris. Meantime it is understood that the British Charge d'Affaires in Berlin was in touch with the German Government to-day on this matter and there is a growing hopefulness in British official quarters that an early reply may

FIRM STAND IN PALESTINE

U.S. MEMORANDUM TO BRITISH PREMIER

Balfour Declaration Endorsed

London, September 3.

A memorandum from the American Christian Conference on Palestine addressed to the Prime Minister has been received. It urges upon the Government of Great Britain firm adherence to terms of the Palestine mandate entrusted to its care by the nations of the world acting through the League of Nations.

It adds: "The Balfour declaration upon which the mandate is based has received the endorsement of the people of the United States, expressed publicly by every President since the World War and, in resolutions passed unanimously by both Houses of Congress."

The opportunity offered to the Jewish people to establish their national home in Palestine was accepted by enlightened public opinion in America as not only just and moral but as irrevocably guaranteed by international law.

The Palestinian situation was the chief subject at yesterday's four-hour Cabinet meeting according to the "Telegraph" and "Morning Post" political correspondents, the latter of whom avers that a positive assurance was given at the meeting that there would be no suspension of Jewish immigration to Palestine.

Despite the desire of the local Government for a compromise with the Arabs in order to end the strike and campaign of violence, both correspondents forecast strengthening of measures to repress lawlessness, possibly the imposition of martial law.

MILITARY SERVICE EXTENSION

French Advocates Disappointed

Paris, Sept. 2.

Those who had, during the last few days tried to arouse public feeling in favour of another prolongation of the universal military service to three years, received a cold shower on Wednesday by a publication by the "L'Intransigeant," to the effect that contrary to all current rumours such an extension of military service will not take place, at least for the time being.

"L'Intransigeant" states that the question had been seriously considered by high military authorities, but in the end preference had been given to the alternate solution, namely strengthening all eastern fortifications.

The Ministry of Aviation has shortened all existing contracts so as to receive earlier delivery of all orders now under construction. The Cabinet Council has been convened for Monday next, and it is believed that a Ministerial Council will be held the following Tuesday, when final decisions will be arrived at.

"CONFIDENCE IN MY TEAM"—CAPTAIN

Coates Should Do Well As Number One

NORTHERN GREENS FAST

Hong Kong's lawn bowls contingent to battle against Shanghai next week for the Prentice Cup in the Interport series are leaving to-day for the North on board the C. P. S. liner Empress of Asia.

The Colony team of six players, comprising A. Hyde-Lay (Kowloon Cricket Club), A. E. Coates (Craigengower C.C.), F. V. V. Ribeiro and H. A. (Dick) Alves (Club de Recreio) and J. F. McGowan and P. E. Knight (Civil Service Cricket Club) will arrive in Shanghai on Sunday.

"I have every confidence in my team," stated Mr. Hyde-Lay, captain and manager of the side, when interviewed by a "Daily Press" representative.

Asked about Hong Kong's chances against their Northern rivals, Mr. Hyde-Lay replied that he could make no statement other than that he felt sure his rink would do their level best to try and win the series and thus wrest the Prentice Cup which has remained in Shanghai since 1934.

Since 1918, Shanghai has won the Interport on ten occasions to Hong Kong's eight.

FASTER GREENS

It has been generally conceded that Shanghai's greens, on the whole, are much faster than those in the Colony, and this will probably prove the deciding factor. Of the Hong Kong team, both the captain and Coates, the Colony bowls singles champion, have played in the North before.

Much will depend on the ability of Coates, who will probably play No. 1.

The Colony champion draws exceptionally well on the local greens as was witnessed in the singles final played on the Kowloon Bowling Green Club green. His drawing was perfection and if he can attain the same form against Shanghai he should give Hong Kong a good foundation.

PROBABLE RINK

Mr. Hyde-Lay also stated to our representative that he would not be able to decide positions in the rink until they arrive in Shanghai and have a try-out before the first Interport match is played.

It is probable that Hong Kong will play as follows:—

A. E. Coates (No. 1)
H. A. Alves (No. 2)
F. V. V. Ribeiro (No. 3)
A. Hyde-Lay (Skip)

"Dick" Alves, the Recreio skip, is making his second appearance in Interport bowls. He played No. 2 in the second match of the series last year when the Colony lost to Shanghai by the odd game. Alves can be relied on for some really good woods.

NEWCOMERS

Ribeiro, who was selected when H. H. Rose, of the Kowloon B.G.C., who was originally chosen but could not obtain the necessary leave, is a steady No. 3 and should give a good account of himself.

McGowan and Phil Knight are making their debut as representatives of the Colony. Both play regularly for the Civil Service C.C. in the League and it will be interesting to see how they fare against the Northern teams.

FULL PROGRAMME

While in Shanghai, the Colony bowlers will play nine matches on successive days from Monday, September 7 to Tuesday, September 15. They therefore have a heavy programme ahead of them.

The full programme is as follows:—

Monday, Sept. 7, Recreation Ground (Recreation green).
Tuesday, Sept. 8, Lusitano Hong-kew Park (C. L. green).
Wednesday, Sept. 9, 1st INTER-PORT Hongkew Park (P.L.B.C. green).
Thursday, Sept. 10, Country Club green.

Friday, Sept. 11, S.L.B.C. Recreation Ground (S.L.B.C. green).
Saturday, Sept. 12, 2nd INTER-PORT Wayside Park (Y.B.C. green).
Sunday, Sept. 13, Hongkew G.C. Hongkew Park (H.G.C. green).
Monday, Sept. 14, 3rd INTER-PORT Recreation Ground (Recreation green).
Tuesday, Sept. 15, Junior G.C. Golf Club green.

All matches will start at 3 p.m. The umpires will be T. G. J. d'Almeida and P. W. Ephgrave. The Interport dinner will be held on Monday, September 14.

Of the players selected to do duty for Shanghai, three members, C. Richards, and C. W. Glover played here last year and among the reserves, J. W. Brerley, was also seen in action on the Hong Kong greens.

Hong Kong's team is not the strongest by any means but it is the strongest available and the best wishes of the Colony bowls enthusiasts will go out to Hyde-Lay and his merry men in their quest for the Prentice Cup and, of course, the Shanghai Lawn Bowls Association flag.

The Colony team will return about September 18.

RECREIO LOSE

Playing on their home ground the Kowloon Indian Tennis Club defeated the Club de Recreio for the championship in the "C" Division of the local Tennis League.

Starting off weakly, the Club de Recreio found it difficult to attain a lead throughout any part of the matches.

Hussain brothers, and F. Khan, and Wahab were the mainstays of the Indians, while the doubles teams of Silva and Gonsalves and Silva and Xavier were the bulwarks of the Recreio.

The last match ended in partial darkness with rain threatening in the offing, but the final scores would not have been much altered, except, perhaps, for a few games.

The scores:—
S. A. Hussain and S. S. Hussain (K.I.T.C.): beat G. and N. Noronha 6-1; beat A. M. Silva and H. Gonsalves 6-4; drew with L. A. Silva and Xavier 6-6.

F. Khan and Y. A. Wahab (K.I.T.C.): beat G. and N. Noronha 6-4; beat Silva and Gonsalves 6-3; drew with Silva and Xavier 6-6.

I. Mahan Singh and T. M. V. Devan (K.I.T.C.): drew with G. and N. Noronha 6-6; lost to Silva and Gonsalves 1-6; lost to Silva and Xavier 0-6.

The K.I.T.C. won by the score of 51 sets to 31.

WALLY MAIR WINS PETER DAWSON TROPHY

POLICE LAWN BOWLS SINGLES FINAL

Wally Mair won the singles lawn bowls championship title of the Police Recreation Club and with it the Peter Dawson Challenge Cup yesterday evening when he defeated L. Gendinning by 21 shots to 13 on the Police Club green.

It was a good game but Mair proved far too consistent for his younger opponent. Mair led 19-13 at the last end when he scored the two shots necessary for victory.

The trophy was presented to the Club for competition by Mr. J. H. Rutonjee.

INTERNATIONAL MATCH

Glasgow, Sept. 2.
A crowd of 25,000 people saw the Scottish Football League defeat the Irish League by 5 goals to 2 at Hampden Park to-day.

The Scottish forwards showed delightful combination and over-ran the Irish defence in the first half. However, they were inclined to be over-artistic.

Scotland led 4-1 at the interval after which they rested on their laurels and the Irish attacked desperately.—

Important Council Meeting

FIXTURES FOR NEW SEASON

A meeting of the Hong Kong Hockey Association Council will be held at 5.30 p.m. on Thursday, September 10, in St. Andrew's Church Hall, Kowloon, the agenda being:—

1. To read Minutes (a) of last Council Meeting and (b) of the Annual General Meeting.
2. Correspondence.
3. To appoint Hockey Umpires' Board.
4. To fix date in December for Civilian v. Combined Services match and to elect Civilian Selection Sub-Committee therefore.
5. To elect Selection Committees for representative matches for the forthcoming season, (a) Colony, (b) Civilian.
6. To receive report of Awards Sub-Committee.
7. To elect Sub-Committee to run the Association Inter-Section Tournament and to fix date for commencement of Tournament.
8. At the conclusion of the meeting, approx. 8 p.m. the Annual Fixture Meeting will be held to which all Clubs and teams are invited to send representatives to make fixtures for the coming season.

INTER-SECTION TOURNAMENT

1. The Tournament, which shall be played off in October, 1936 shall be of the "Knock-out" type, opponents in each section and grounds being decided by "lot."
2. There shall be three sections in the Tournament, i.e. Navy, Army and Civilian and each section shall be composed of teams properly belonging to it and recognised as such, the teams eligible to compete being:— Navy—Ships, Army—Regiments or Units, Civilian—Clubs.
3. The winning team of the Civilian section shall play the winners, or selected teams as the case may be, of the other Sections to decide the winners of the Tournament on dates to be decided later. This portion of the Tournament to be run as a league, each team playing the other teams once.
4. The game shall be played in accordance with the Rules of Hockey as laid down by the Hockey Association (England).
5. Dates of matches, times, grounds and umpires will be arranged by the Hong Kong Hockey Association.
6. The dates and fixtures arranged by the H.K.H.A. must be strictly adhered to and may not be postponed except with its consent which will not normally be granted except in the case of inclement weather or by reason of public events of great importance affecting alike all teams concerned.
7. The duration of each match, except the Final, shall be twenty-five minutes each way without interval. In the case of a draw, if light permits to the satisfaction of the umpires, an extra 5 minutes each way, also without interval, shall be played after which if a draw still results the match shall be replayed within one week under similar conditions.
8. All matches will generally be played in midweek.
9. The team first named in each match shall play in white, their opponents playing in colours.
10. The Captain of each team shall provide 3 clean hockey balls for each match and these together with the list of players with reserves taking part in the match shall be handed to the umpires before the commencement of the game.
11. The match shall commence not later than 5.15 p.m. whether the full teams are present or not and the umpires shall see that this rule is carried out.
12. Players are eligible to play only for teams in the section to which they belong by occupation or profession and in any one season may only play, for the purpose of the Tournament, in one team, transfers from team to team or section to section not being permitted.
13. All teams belonging to Civilian Clubs which are affiliated with the H.K.H.A. are eligible for participation in the Tournament, application for which together with a list of possible players must be

BOWLS PLAYED AT NIGHT

New Departure At H.K. Electric R.C.

Football has been played in artificial light and so has tennis, a new departure is the playing of lawn bowls by electric light. This feature has been inaugurated by the Hong Kong Electric Recreation Club and last night saw another game being played at North Point. The H.K. Electric played a friendly game with a combined team from the H.K. Football Club and Talkoo.

The heat of the day was thus evaded and a most enjoyable game resulted. The games are intended to be weekly fixtures and in view of the coolness of the night, will undoubtedly be a success.

The visitors won by 30 shots. The scores were:—

H.K. Electric: A. P. Tarbuck, T. P. Sanderson, W. Stoker, W. H. B. Musket, (Skip) 17.

Combined Teams: J. Polson, J. Pollock, W. Cunningham, J. C. Chalmers (Skip) 22.

H.K. Electric: V. Sorby, J. L. King, G. T. Padgett, J. F. Lunny (Skip) 12.

Combined Teams: E. J. Edwards, G. S. Graver, W. Robertson, J. Roger (Skip) 25.

H.K. Electric: C. E. Gahagan, G. S. Thomson, J. Sloan, S. Deacon (Skip) 11.

Combined Teams: P. C. Morgan, E. S. Carter, J. Russell, J. A. R. Selby (Skip) 23.

Total: H.K. Electric 40; Combined Teams 70.

FLIGHT ACROSS ATLANTIC

Harry Richman's Adventure

New York, Sept. 2.

Harry Richman, noted Broadway night club owner, and Dick Merrill, veteran air line pilot, left Floyd Bennett airport at 3.37 p.m. (E.S.T.), on a trans-Atlantic flight to England.

They plan to make the round trip across the Atlantic, stopping at Craydon only long enough to refuel.

Forty thousand ping-pong balls, crammed into the wings of the plane for buoyancy purposes, were among the several safety devices fitted into the machine. Favourable weather conditions are forecast for the flight.

The airmen stated that they had received permission to land at Hendon. They plan to fly at a height of from 15,000 to 18,000 feet, at the edge of the sub-stratosphere.

The machine being used is a converted 8-passenger aeroplane fitted with a special 1,000 h.p. engine. It has been stripped inside to accommodate a thousand gallons of petrol, enough for about twenty hours' flying.

Merrill, interviewed by "Reuter," said: "We should be dining in London fifteen hours after leaving Floyd Bennett airport."

New Season About To Commence

The Council of the above Association gives notice that Spoon and Practice Shoots will re-commence on the Army Ranges at Kowloon City on Wednesday afternoons, starting on September 16.

In order to avoid the necessity for having to shoot in semi-darkness it is particularly requested that members will arrive on the firing point as soon after 2 o'clock as possible.

WALKER CUP FOURSOMES

U. S. Two Matches To The Good

Pine Valley, Sept. 1.

United States were two matches to the good at the end of the Walker Cup foursomes which were played over the Pine Valley course today. Britain succeeded in halving two of the games, but were badly beaten in the other two. The results in brief were:

Reid Smith and Ed. White (U.S.) beat J. McLean and John Langley 3 and 1.

J. Goodman and A. Campbell (U.S.) beat H. Thompson and H. Bentley 7 and 5.

O. Yeates and W. Emery (U.S.) halved with M. Dykes and G. Peters.

H. Givan and G. Voigt (U.S.) halved with A. Hill and C. Ewing.

Goodman and Campbell were five up at the end of the morning round, though they were all square at the ninth. Reynolds Smith and White were one up, having been square at the ninth hole.

Peters and Dykes, Great Britain, were one up at the ninth and at the end of the round, but Givan and Voigt were three up at the ninth and improved to four up at the round's finish.

The weather was cool and overcast.

The only time Thompson and Bentley led was at the tenth, when Thompson's ball struck Goodman's caddy. Campbell sank a twelve-foot putt on the eleventh and fourteenth for birdies. The Americans were still five up at the twenty-seventh, the British pair having won only the twenty-fourth hole on the second round.

McLean and Langley cracked up in the afternoon, winning only one hole.

Playing against Givan and Voigt, Hill and Ewing made a magnificent recovery. They were twice seven down during the afternoon. They might easily have snatched a sensational victory had not Hill overclubbed at the thirty-second green, his ball trickling off the green and into a lake. Tweddell, the British captain, expressed the opinion that the Britons would have won if a different club had been used in this case.

Dykes and Peters were perfect on their homeward play during the morning, having all par figures. The lead alternated all afternoon until the Britons squared with a birdie on the thirty-third hole. Thereafter they halved the remainder.

The singles draw has been announced as follows:

Thompson vs Goodman; McLean vs Campbell; Ewing vs Johnny Fischer, Cincinnati.

Hill vs Smith; Peters vs Emery; Dykes vs Yeates; Bentley vs G. T. Dunlap, Jr., New York; Langley vs White.—

WRESTLER HERE

Pantaleon Manlapig From Manila

Hong Kong wrestling fans will be interested to know that another wrestler has arrived here in hope of having a few bouts.

He is Pantaleon Manlapig, better known as Young Aguinado in the American, Hawaiian, European and Australian boxing and wrestling rings. Is from the Philippine Islands, and weighs over 200 pounds.

Aguinado was sent for by Mr. R. Ditta, the promoter of the mat contest between Wong Bock-cheung and Harban Singh last Sunday. Aguinado will meet Wong next week-end.

Details will be announced later.

GENE SARAZEN AIRS HIS VIEWS

Great Britain And Walker Cup

PINE VALLEY DEPLORED

With the Walker Cup match in progress at Pine Valley, the following article written by the famous professional golfer, Gene Sarazen, in a leading sporting journal, will be read with interest:—

Truly, I do not think we are doing the sporty thing in taking the British to Pine Valley for the Walker Cup matches, but doubtless it will be said that Pine Valley was chosen because it resembles the type of course that abounds in their homeland.

Generally speaking, this is so. At Clementon, New Jersey, where Pine Valley sprawls itself over the rolling countryside, the British will be reminded of their own links at Sandwich, whose remoteness from London gives it an exclusive atmosphere of isolation. Galleries at Sandwich are small but select. Whenever the Walker Cup matches are played there, you can be sure of hobnobbing with dukes and lords, and very likely you will have someone like the Earl of Westmorland, who is just plain "Burghie" to Leo Diegel, for your fore-caddy. But there the resemblance ends.

What has befallen all the teams, amateur and professional, which Great Britain has sent so hopefully to our shores makes me view with apprehension the fate likely to overtake her newest Walker Cup team at Pine Valley in September.

HORRORS!

If we Americans were kind enough to invite our amiable cousins to combat our amateurs on some course more friendly, perhaps I wouldn't feel so sorry for them. But Pine Valley! Horrors! Why, our own bravest and boldest players quake in their brogues whenever anyone mentions Pine Valley. And somebody is always mentioning Pine Valley. It seems to have become the yardstick with which all our courses are measured. It is a subject for never-ending debate. When some poor, callow enthusiast joyously ventures to suggest that he has just played the greatest course he has ever seen, a wet blanket is sure to bob up with burning scorn and say:

"Pooh, pooh! It's easily seen you've never played Pine Valley." And the poor, callow enthusiast is showered with such terrible tales of Pine Valley that the course he thought tough sinks and sinks in his imagination until it becomes no greater than the public links at Van Corlandt Park. He is provided with a minute description of Pine Valley's terrible snares and pitfalls, its yawning bunkers which swallow the unfortunate golfer as well as the ball, its tremendous carries from the tees, and the woods on either side of its fairways where demons lie in wait to torment him. There is something in what the wet blankets have to say.

ELBOW ROOM

We must remember that in their own bunkered land the British are used to plenty of elbow room. Our narrow fairways and tightly trapped greens do not suit their conservative and cautious manner of play. At Pine Valley they not only will have to confront these severe conditions, but in addition will have to contend against the woods, a distinct handicap since all their seaside courses are free of forests.

American players, whether amateurs or professionals, have an advantage over their British rivals on ribbon-like courses whose targets are small and well trapped. Americans are free hitters. They slash away fearlessly and are usually straighter than the British, who are constantly striving to keep out of trouble. Furthermore, Americans are more adept in escaping from traps because they have learned to use the heavy sand iron which I helped to develop. This has made bunker play so simple that they take pot shots at the green without thought of consequences.

BRITISH FORTE

It seems to me that an ideal place for the matches would have been the Augusta National links where several of the holes are designed for pitch and run play, the British forte. I still look back with satisfaction on my 230 yard "pitch-run" spoon shot for an eagle two on the fifteenth hole. There, too, the expansive fairways would have encouraged them to let out with their tee shots rather than restrain them, as Pine Valley is sure to do. Personally, I dislike courses where the premium is all on the tee shot. For example, the way Oakmont is trapped off the tee you might just as well be out of bounds when you hook or slice. You may recall the distressful experiences of the British Ryder Cup team of professionals when it played in our open championship at Oakmont in 1927. Only one of its members was able to finish a round under 80. Their criticism of the conditions was severe. I thoroughly agree with the general British belief that the most spectacular part of golf from both the player's and spectator's viewpoint is the second shot. Iron shots to the pin are most attractive.

GERMAN-MANCHUKUO TRADE

Berlin, Sept. 2.
A permanent German Trade Commission to Manchukuo is being appointed very shortly. Manchukuo's Trade Commissioner in Germany, Mr. Kato, who has just returned here from Koenigsberg, where for the first time in its short history Manchukuo participated in a foreign fair, told Reuters that the German demand for soy beans was very big.

BRITISH-ARGENTINE TRADE HITCH

A hitch has occurred in the negotiations between the British and Argentine Governments on the proposed new trading agreement.

Existing arrangements expire on November 6, and formal notice has been given to terminate them. Negotiators for the Argentine, who have been discussing the terms of a new agreement with British Government representatives, recently sent a draft to their Government.

Information has now been received from the Argentine objecting to the proposal to impose three farthings a lb. levy on meat imported from that country.

This levy was put forward side by side with a condition that the Argentine should continue to give preferences on British goods.

The Argentine Government take the view that they should not be expected to accept both conditions, and have given instructions to this effect to their negotiators with the suggestion that the three-farthings levy should be reduced to a halfpenny.

The negotiations are of the utmost importance to Great Britain. Something like 80 per cent. of Argentine's coal supply comes from this country, especially from South Wales, and Lancashire has also a big market there in cotton goods.

To a large extent the Government's meat policy is bound up with our arrangements with the Dominions.

Negotiations will not be resumed until the Minister of Agriculture and the negotiators have returned to London from their holidays.
